

In the battle over the copyrights to the original Masters of the Universe minicomics, it's Mattel that has the power of Grayskull. According to The Hollywood Reporter, a federal judge last week sided with the toymaker in its 2013 lawsuit against writer Donald Glut, who claimed he created the characters in 1981, owns the copyrights [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/03/mattel-wins-fight-with-comics-writer-over-he-man-rights/>