

And a new website is looking to bring together webcomic creators under one roof to build an audience and a business for them. Describes as a “curated not-for-profit comic-sharing” website, Zco.mx was inspired by the community nature of artist-oriented conventions like the Toronto Comic Arts Festival. Using a straightforward web design (both for readers and participating [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/04/new-digital-comics-site-zco-mx-picks-up-steam/>