

The U.K. comics scene has been heating up of late, and we can only hope that 2012 will see a British Invasion of the comics variety. The BBC has coverage of the latest development: The launch of The Phoenix, a weekly children's comic published by David Fickling (whose David Fickling Books is an imprint of [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2011/12/notes-from-across-the-pond/>