

French photographer Sacha Goldberger, who previously made a splash with images of his 91-year-old grandmother as a superhero, exhibited his latest series “Super Flemish” over the weekend at the Grand Palais in Paris. As you might have guessed from the title and the above photo, the project features superheroes (and villains), Star Wars characters and [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/11/photographs-transport-superheroes-back-to-16th-century/>