

Wee Pals creator Morrie Turner, the first nationally syndicated African-American cartoonist, passed away Saturday in a Sacramento, California, hospital. He was 90 years old. Raised in Oakland, Turner was a self-taught artist who drew cartoons for Army newspapers while serving during World War II with the 477th Bomber group. Following his discharge, he worked as [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/01/pioneering-cartoonist-morrie-turner-passes-away/>