

When DC announced it was shuttering the Wildstorm and Zuda imprints back in September, after having announced the shutterings of the CMX line less than six months ago (and only two years since they canceled the failed Minx experiment), all eyes started moving uneasily towards Vertigo, the first and final imprint DC had left. It [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2010/11/robot-reviews-whats-up-with-vertigo/>