

Veteran cartoonist Roger Langridge has issued a call for help in finding several pieces of original artwork that came up missing following a September exhibition in Italy. They were to be shipped to London, but apparently never arrived. "I have no idea what might have happened to them," he writes on his blog. "I'm keen [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/05/roger-langridge-needs-help-finding-missing-artwork/>