

Roz Chast's memoir Can't We Talk About Something More Pleasant? has been nominated for the 2014 National Book Award for Nonfiction, marking the first time a graphic novel has made the longlist in one of the adult categories. The five finalists will be announced Oct. 15. In 2006, Gene Luen Yang's American Born Chinese became [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/09/roz-chasts-graphic-memoir-nominated-for-national-book-award/>