

San Diego City Council will meet this afternoon in a closed session to discuss whether to appeal a recent California appeals court ruling that cripples the funding plan for the proposed $520 million expansion of the San Diego Convention Center. According to City News Service, council members don't necessarily have to reach a decision today [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/08/san-diego-city-council-to-meet-ab-out-convention-center-ruling/>