

Whenever I open a book by Usamaru Furuya, it's tough to tell what I'm going to see. Furuya studied fine art in college, and went on to draw 4-panel strips (a work called Palepoli) for underground magazine Garo without knowing much at all about comics. The results have to be seen to be believed. [...]

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2013/04/11/say-it-with-manga-usamaru-furuya-edition/>