

The South Carolina Senate on Tuesday overturned punitive budgets cuts of nearly $70,000 against two universities that selected gay-themed books for their reading programs for incoming freshmen, but instead will require the schools to use the money to teach the U.S. Constitution and other historical documents. According to the Charleston Post and Courier, Republican Sen. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/05/s-c-senate-reaches-compromise-of-sorts-in-fun-home-feud/>