

Warner Bros.' oversized totes, considered the must-have accessory for Comic-Con International, are returning to San Diego — and they're wearing capes. This year's version is a backpack, rather than a traditional bag, so the capes make sense, at least visually. Don't worry, though, they're detachable, and can be worn separately. More than 130,000 backpacks will [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/07/sdcc-13-this-years-warner-bros-s-wag-bags-have-capes/>