

Well-earned character deaths give stories high stakes and make them feel palpably real. But is possible that death after shocking death in our stories is inuring us to it? What does it take for a creator to lose you as a fan?

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2015/06/15/she-has-no-head-killing-characters/>