

As is usually the case, the 2014 Small Press Expo was a whirlwind affair, full of panels, hurried greetings, bumping into people while walking along the aisles and comics, comics, comics everywhere you looked. Both Brigid Alverson and I were there, although we never actually managed to meet up (while SPX isn't a large show [...])

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/09/small-press-expo-2014-from-two-perspectives/>