

Drawing may never have been Stan Lee's forte, but when called upon for a good cause, even Stan The Man can put pencil to paper. That's the focus of a rather heartwarming story that ran in The New York Times this weekend focusing on 8-year-old autistic Harlem resident Jamel Hunter. The youngest of five children [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/02/stan-lee-sketches-spider-man-for-young-autistic-fan/>