

Clearly there's a rapidly escalating arms race under way in a galaxy far, far away. Within a matter of weeks, we've gone Millennium Falcon and TIE Interceptor custom quadcopters to a speeder bike and, now, an Imperial Star Destroyer. The creation Olivier C, who previously built the radio-controlled Millennium Falcon and TIE Interceptor, the symbol [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/03/star-wars-arms-race-heats-up-with-radio-controlled-star-destroyer/>