

The Millennium Falcon and TIE Interceptor customized quadcopters are without a doubt impressive, but this radio-controlled Star Wars scout trooper mounted on a speeder bike takes things to another level. Created by Adam Woodworth using a Hasbro toy and some serious know-how, the speeder bike can actually race through the trees like a scene out [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2015/03/star-wars-speeder-bike-quadcopter-can-recreate-endor-scene/>