

Going to PAX East in Boston over the weekend was like going to a comic convention on another planet. The gestalt was the same — the exhibit floor, the booths, the cosplayers, the panels — but everything was a little off. The crowd was bigger and younger. Huge screens advertised properties I knew by name [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/03/stranger-in-a-strange-land-my-day-at-pax-east/>