

This doesn't come as a surprise to a lot of us, but a recent study confirms what's been theorized for years: Comics are a stronger learning tool than text books. It's gratifying to see for the already-converted, but it should also be a strong signal to publishers and educators that the recent exploration of comics [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/01/the-benefits-and-risks-of-comics-in-education/>