

In case you thought it was only comics that unnecessarily sexed up female characters, fear not: It happens in all media — and the newest guilty party is Disney. On Saturday, the studio inducted Merida of the Pixar film Brave as the 11th Disney Princess. More accurately, it inducted some alternate-reality Merida who's thinner, wears [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/05/the-not-so-brave-makeover-and-subtle-backpeddling/>