

As if you needed a reason to believe that zombies should be depicted as lumbering reanimated corpses rather than ridiculous sprinting wraiths, there's now scientific support for that. Neuroscientists Timothy Verstynen and Bradley Voytek have written Do Zombies Dream of Undead Sheep?: A Neuroscientific View of the Zombie Brain, which shows "how zombism can be [...]"

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/11/theres-a-scientific-explanation-for-why-zombies-lumber/>