

If your parents ever complained that all of those Spider-Man and X-Men comics would interfere with your school work, show them this: This spring the University of Baltimore will offer a course examining modern culture through the lens of Marvel's films, television series and comic books. Thought to be the first class of its kind [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/09/university-of-baltimore-offering-class-about-marvel-movies/>