

As funny as the Amazon Drone Twitter account is, the best response to Sunday's big revelation that the online retail giant is developing delivery by unmanned aerial vehicles has to be from Waterstones. On Monday, the U.K. bookseller announced O.W.L.S., the Ornithological Waterstones Landing Service, which will utilize owls to bring books to customers' doors. [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/12/waterstones-tweaks-amazons-drone-plans-unveils-o-w-l-s/>