

While sports aren't foreign to webcomics, they are a rarity. Usually when the subject is raised, it's as some made-up game invented for absurdity — like, I don't know, using a frog as a ball or something. The most successful sports comics, including those depicted in manga and in the webcomic Hoopfighter, tend to ramp [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2014/08/webcomics-sports-and-fandom/>