

I doubt if anyone is nominating the “Golden Age”! I have argued, twice before, that we’re living in the Golden Age of comics, simply because of the sheer diversity of the product and the accessibility of it all (those links are old; the second one has those formatting problems that older entries on this blog [...])

Read more: <http://goodcomics.comicbookresources.com/2012/05/05/what-should-we-call-this-era-of-comics/>