

Although signed by 34,435 people, a petition asking the U.S. government to build a Death Star didn't bring the results its signers were looking for. But at least it gave the White House an excuse to have some fun ... and maybe watch Star Wars again in the interest of "research." The petition was created [...]

Read more: <http://robot6.comicbookresources.com/2013/01/with-one-shot-white-house-denies-death-star-petition/>