

The Rock..aaand, a few other guys I can't remember. Anyway, quite a few people have been cast in this upcoming sequel to the wretched Gi Joe: Rise Of Cobra. And now we can add the star of ABC's short lived Wonder Woman tv show, Adrienne Palicki. This just in from Deadline.. Friday Nights Lights series star Adrienne Palicki will play the female lead in the Paramount sequel to G.I. Joe: Cobra Strikes. She'll play Lady Jaye and joins a cast that includes Channing Tatum, as well as Dwayne Johnson, who signed on to play the role of Roadblock in the Jon M. Chu-directed film. Ray Park is expected to reprise his Snake Eyes character, Byung Hun-lee is expected to bring back Storm Shadow, and RZA just joined the film. Interestingly, Deadline also mention that Bruce Willis might be a "top choice" to play original G.I. Joe, Joe Colton. Anyway, what do you guys
