

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/apecentral/news/?a=27763&t=Caesar_Rise_of_the_Apes_-_Jamie_Harris_Interviewed

Although Harris doesn't identify his character, it would seem that he is one of the film's antagonists based on his description of what he went through. What follows are a couple of excerpts. QUESTION: So was it less hectic on the Rise of the Apes set than it was on The Green Hornet? JAMIE HARRIS: Oh, yeah, well that was different. I was beaten up by 300 apes and Andy Serkis is phenomenal. But he really gets into character so he's dragging you around as the main ape. You're literally being thrown around everywhere and I was trying to say, 'Andy, it's a rehearsal.' But no, I was just being thrown around. So that was different, but equally as exciting. QUESTION: He's not dressed as an ape as he's doing this. JAMIE HARRIS: No. He has this suit on with all these green dots. But he has this...I mean, the first time he wails as