

IGN caught up with Chris Hemsworth where he talked about being excited for Thor as well as what he is looking forward to with The Avengers. On if all the promotional stuff going on with the release coming up has hit him yet: "Yes and no, I guess. It's still sort of surreal to see the billboards come up and you start to see the trailers playing and you say, 'Wow, it's actually happening.' But a year and a half ago when I first got cast, I was certainly informed of how big it was gonna be so I've had that time to think about it, but yeah you still double-take at billboards and go, 'What the hell is that?!'" On his favorite part of making Thor: "The whole thing was just incredible, you know? I not only get to work with some of my favorite actors and people in the business, but I get

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=34845&t=Chris\_Hemsworth\_Talks\_iThori\_and\_iThe\_Avengersi