

As it's known filming for Marvel's Joe Johnston-directed Captain America: The First Avenger film is openly underway in the Times Square of New York, the sequence will star Chris Evans, and the S.H.I.E.L.D-heavy 'Nick Fury' actor Samuel L. Jackson. And courtesy of EyePrime, heres high resolution images from the set. Click images to Enlarge The sequence, which could also be featured in Joss Whedon's crossover phenomenon The Avengers due to the "Group Hug" working title being spotted near the shoot, evidently follows Steve Rogers see our modern times for the first time. And somehow escaping SHIELD custody, who eventually catches up to him, and is then greeted by director Nick Fury. What do you think? Anyhow, look for Captain America: The First Avenger in theaters July 22, 2011, and The Avengers May 4, 2012!
