

The folks over on Bleeding cool have just revealed the cover for Batman #1 with art by none other than Greg Capullo! (X-Force, Angela, Spawn) It'll be hitting shelves in September following DC's relaunch of 52 titles after Flashpoint, and you can check it out below! The cover seems to show Batman fending off some of his classic villains such as Killer Croc and Two face towards the bottom right hand corner, and shows what seems to be a newly designed Riddler on the right with a green question mark shaved on his head. It seems as though Scarecrow is also makes an appearance towards the bottom left. The cover also showcases some new villains such as 'Mr Pyg' who can be seen being punched on the right who only just recently appeared in the Batman mythos. Bleeding Cool also suggested Greg Capullo will be doing the artwork for the entire book

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/dklegend/news/?a=38786&t=COMICS_Cover_to_DC's_Batman_1_following_relaunch_revealed