

Who is CYBORG? CYBORG, is Victor Stone. Due to a tragic accident his body was crushed and the only way for him to survive was to meld himself with an experimental technology; his body parts have been replaced with a large arsenal of high-tech gadgets and weaponry, while constantly providing him life support. Stone struggles with his humanity as a machine, his advancements have made him an unstoppable powerhouse. He adopted the name CYBORG, half man, half machine but all hero. CYBORG was created by Marv Wolfman and George Perez, first appearing in DC Comics Presents #26. (1980) Origin Victor Stone is the son of two brilliant scientists intent on improving mankind, but lacks parental values. They use Victor as a test subject for intelligence-boosting experimentation. The experiment was successful and granting Victor a genius-level intelligence. Victor's life changed when he visited STAR Labs while his parents were conducting inter-dimensional

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/pollmaster/news/?a=37268&t=CYBORG_The_Man_Machine