

In 1984, director James Cameron struck gold with his Action packed adventure The Terminator. The film followed Sarah Connor (Linda Hamilton) and a mysterious protector from the future Kyle Reese (Michael Biehn), as they ran from the clutches of a murderous robot (Arnold Schwarzenegger) whose kind takes over the world if Sarah Connor is killed. The killing Machine known as the Terminator is trying to kill Sarah Connor to prevent the birth of her unborn son John, who is destined to help save the world from the robotic takeover, Judgment Day. The success of the first would lead to several sequels (the fourth of which only featured Schwarzenegger in a brief cameo), spawning a highly successful franchise, even after the director of the much more successful first two, James Cameron left. With another new director, Justin Lin (Fast Five) set to helm a fifth movie, He revealed while speaking to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/SuperPoweredNews/news/?a=35184&t=Director_Justin_Lin_Has_Talked_With_Arnold_Schwarzenegger_About_Returning_To_The_Terminator_Franchise