

I have been fortunate enough to have a chat with someone who was VERY fortunate enough to catch 15 minutes of footage from Marvel's The Avengers. Now I wish I could tell you guys all that I was told but contracts were signed, people could get into trouble, all the usual red tape. But here is what I can tell you.. The footage left my friend's jaw on the floor. He/she was shown "animation of un shot battle scenes and saw footage of The Avengers together. no special effects yet." I was told what was shown was pretty spectacular. And I can say just one more thing, The Hulk will play a "key role" in these screened battle scenes. And that's pretty much it I'm afraid. Toldja it wasn't much. But, I am assured that those privy to the footage were all very impressed indeed. If I manage to come by any

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=39760&t=First_Reaction_To_15_Minutes_Of_Footage_From_iThe_Avengersi