

The Fox Network has now delayed "Kill Bob," the next new episode of Human Target. Its now going to be shown on Monday, January 31st, instead of its original date and slot which was on Wednesday, January 26th. Reported on the Futon Critic website (via Target419.com), the reason is because Fox has expanded their hit music/reality show American Idol that airs on the 26th to two full hours. At present, the two final episodes of the second season of Human Target are scheduled for Wednesday, February 2nd & February 9th in the normal timeslot, though that could change at any time. Recap time: Monday, January 31 8PM = Human Target: "Kill Bob" Wednesday, February 2 (Tentative) 8PM = Human Target: Episode #2.12 9PM = American Idol Wednesday, February 9 (Tentative) 8PM = Human Target: "Marshall Pucci" (The Season Finale?) 9PM = American Idol Its been said "Marshall Pucci" could be the series finale, more details as soon as they come available. Many thanks to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/ActionFigureNews/news/?a=28082&t=iHuman_Targetl_Alert_-_Schedule_Change_For_Kill_Bob