On The Differences Of Handling The Loss Of Charles Xavier's Hair: If I do another shoot like this one, I might have none left. Hopefully at some point in the second movie he'll not only lose his hair but explain why as well. In the comic books it's clear that he loses it the day he discovers his powers, but they decided not to do that in this one for some reason. It's a different take. We might as well save it for an in-movie explanation. Maybe something else happens to him. For the second movie, I'm quite interested in the idea that he can't keep the voices out so maybe
