

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=28720&t=iMonstersi_Scoot_McNairy_Lands_Super_Hero_Role_Could_It_Be_In_Thei_Supermani_Reboot

In this month's Total Film magazine there is an interview with Monsters actor Scoot McNairy. He reveals to the mag that he has landed a big role.. "[Monsters has] opened up a lot of doors for me. I just got an offer yesterday that was probably the biggest offer of my life..." Total Film then asked if perhaps this role was in any particular superhero movie that might be coming up and McNairy's publicist said.. "It's a good one! But if he tells you he'll have to kill you." McNairy added.. "You'll read it in the trades in a few weeks. It'll be a big announcement." Total Film had run this with a headline that strongly suggested that the film McNairy was talking about was indeed Superman. The article has now been deleted. Read into that what you will! In any case I really don't think McNairy would be up for the [art of Superman himself.