

Hey Guys, Yahoo Movies just added this brand new film clip from J.J. Abrams' upcoming Super 8. The new clip titled "Production Value" is an actual full length film clip, instead of being a sneak peek clip/ Check it out below! In 1979 in the fictional town of Lillian, Ohio a group of teenagers are making a movie with a Super 8 mm film camera when they witness a train crash. They suspect it was not an accident. There are disappearances and unexplained events around town, and the local deputy investigates the cause of the events leading to the discovery of something inhuman. Super 8 hits cinemas June 10, 2011.
