

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/ARMAGEDDON/news/?a=27522&t=Nicolas_Cage_Suggests_emThat_Ghost_Rider_2em_Might_Be_A_Reboot

Ghost Rider, Nicolas Cage, says that the directors Mark Neveldine and Brian Taylor are: "...not like anybody else I've worked with. They do things with the camera that are just extraordinary. They're brand new. The directors on rollerblades and hanging from wires with the camera, holding on to the motorcycle and it's going to be really wild." Nicolas Cage promises that this new sequel will be different from the first film, a completely new experience: "(It's going to be) very different. A completely new experience and that's how the directors choose to see it. I mean there's even a new origin sequence." Nicolas Cage is returning to the Ghost Rider world on February 17, 2012 and will be reprising his role of Johnny Blaze/Ghost Rider and the supposed plot is that Ghost Rider is hiding out in remote Eastern Europe and struggling to repress his curse. Blaze is recruited by a sect to take on the