Leading the pack is Tom Hardy, who despite already garnering rave reviews for his performance in Bronson, really only made an impression on the movie going majority playing the roguish Eames in Chris Nolan's Inception. He will soon of course rejoin Nolan for a still unrevealed role in Dark Knight Rises. Next is Emma Stone. Forcing both critics and fans alike to sit up and take notice with a great performance in Easy A, Stone will make her mark on the CBM world playing Gwen Stacy in Marc Webb's Spider-Man reboot. Then there is Aaron Johnson who already made his mark playing the title role in Matthew Vaughn's Kick Ass. Gemma Arterton is next. She has made an impression in quite a few movies now but really impressed the critics with her turn as Tamara Drewe in the Stephen Frears film of the same name(yes, it's a CBM!). Finally we have our new Spider-Man,
