There is not too much here to be honest. But it's a slow news day so far. And if like me you were watching the Globes last night hoping that someone would ask one of the many stars that will appear in CBMs this year something about them, and not how their flight was or who's suit they're wearing, then it's good to know that at least one or two of the interviewers brought it up.

From Access Hollywood.. "I think we're going to do something extraordinary," the actor told Billy when asked about "The Avengers." Robert explained that he's met with his co-stars, Chris Hemsworth (Thor) and Chris Evans (Captain America) — who both presented together on Sunday night — and they plan on making a stellar movie that the fans have been longing to see. "If we work really hard, I think we'll have something worth it," he continued. RDJ also said that his
