

Tags: Movie Trailers, Movies Blog "I love Tim. Tim is someone who we all vetted through and through. He's a guy who captures the spirit of it, and he's also an incredible visual artist." "He was also the first guy we met who came up with a huge presentation for it. That was something I hope to be able to show you at some point." "Also, Tim came cheap, which helped as well. In order to do this movie the way we want to do it is pretty nasty, and pretty hard. You can't exactly have a $200 million budget when you want to do a movie like this." Apparently R.I.P.D is next for Reynolds, then it's on to Deadpool. I for one am just happy that the movie is now looking like it's going to finally happen at least. The script was excellent, here's hoping there won't be too many alterations come shoot time. By

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=39107&t=Ryan_Reynolds_Praises_iDeadpooli_Director_Tim_Miller