

First let me start with the fact that I got this news from a concept artist who are often brought in to work on movies before there is even a finalized script. With that said, I personally have a creative background and have a lot of college friends working in California who are concept artists. One of my former mates [who I obviously won't reveal] stated that she worked on early concepts for the movie which were modeled after the prostitute version in Batman: Year One. As many of you know, the Catwoman in Frank Miller's tale, created the prostitute backstory for Selina. And from what we've seen in Batman Begins and The Dark Knight Returns, a lot of the material was lifted from Miller's take. Well, again, this isn't 100% confirmation that this is the version we will see as many of you who have seen

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=41604&t=SCOOP_Version_of_Catwoman_in_emThe_Dark_Knight_Risesem