Sebastian Stan recently talked with MTV News via telephone. They pretty much covered how busy he has been throughout 2010 appearing in "Hot Tub Time Machine" and "Black Swan. But it's what was said concerning the upcoming Captain America:The First Avenger and his role as Bucky Barnes, Cap's famous ill fated sidekick, that we CBM fans are interested in hearing. Tell me about the casting process for "Captain America." It was interesting, because I was in Germany, so I was making tapes [for an audition]. One thing about living in New York is I always end up making tapes. I read this article about Vera Farmiga, and apparently she used to do these incredible tapes, and that really encouraged me. Sometimes in an audition room, it's hard to get there. I like making tapes. Anyway, I was in Germany and I made a tape before I left New York in early January,
