

Fox have already alienated many of the hardcore X-Men fans with the changes they've seemingly made to the much loved comic book continuity in X-Men: First Class, and it looks like they've now done something else which will win them no fans. Taking to his Twitter feed, Stan Lee has revealed that he doesn't have a cameo in the movie and seemed to be pretty much in the dark about the entire thing! I know that production was rushed, but they couldn't squeeze in a cameo for the guy who created the team in the first place? Grim news have I for my brave Brigadiers. Gird thee thy loins the better to prove that thou canst suffer the bad along with the good It hath come to my attention that "X-Men 1st Class" shall soon be released. Thus, thou hath the good news. Now for the bad-- Incredible as it may seemeth, NO

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=37186&t=Stan_Lee_Confirms_That_He_Has_No_Cameo_In_iX-Men_First_Classi