

Hello Folks, The Times Of India posted an article on “The Dark Knight Rises” shoot, which took place in Jodhpur, India. The indian newspaper is claiming that the green screen, which we all saw, was set up to replace it digitally, with the Lazarus pit. Below is the article! Christopher Nolan and Christian Bale's date with India got over on Monday morning, when they took a chartered flight back from Jodhpur to London. Both Nolan and Bale had arrived in India on May 4 and had shot for "The Dark Knight Rises" in front of and inside Jodhpur's Mehrangarh Fort on May 6 and 7. Accompanying Bale on this India trip was Josh Pence, the actor who was digitally superimposed with Armie Hammer's visage to portray one half of the Winklevoss twins in David Fincher's " The Social Network". Pence was recently cast as young Ra's Al Ghul and is one of Batman's
