

Sean is a very talented actor and few might disagree with this statement. But this hasn't stopped him from dying a lot in his movies as evidenced by the death reel (even the Dark Knight took a shot at him). The most recent being his decapitation on Game of Thrones. Even with life leaving his body, he still manages to infuse a lot of emotions in each scene. Ok, im reaching but who didn't shed a tear when Boromir died? Or when Ned lost his head? What more can you ask for in an actor? Personally, i think his demise in Black Death was the goriest of them all. If you haven't seen that movie, you should check it out. Here is a complete list of films listed in the video (again, spoilers): 00:07 - Don't Say a Word (2001) 00:24 - Equilibrium (2002) 00:33 - Outlaw (2007) 00:39 - Airborne (1998) 00:43 - Red Riding:

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MsKyle08/news/?a=41776&t=Watch_Sean_Bean_Die_21_Glorious_Times