

In the 42nd part of this ongoing series that focuses on the History of Comic Books, producer Derek Crabbe views comics history through the lens of those comic book characters that are lucky enough to be adapted for both movies and television. If you enjoy the musings of James Rolfe or Lewis Lovhaug you'll probably enjoy this vast project which continues with the 1973 Hanna-Barbera produced animated series Super Friends!

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/hocof/news/?a=31116&t=Zonkers_Couldnt_Everyone_Use_Some_Super_Friends_Check_out_their_very_first_incarnation_in_a_nother_chapter_of_the_History_of_Comics_On_Film