

It's not often that a film falls short in its first weekend of release only to win the following three weekends in a row. Hell, it's not often that any release three-peats at the domestic box office race. Despite the fact that we had three billion dollar grossing films this summer...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/third-victory_article_130990.html