

It looks like the adaptation of Max Brooks' World War Z and the date of December 21st won't share a apocalyptic theme. Despite the Brad Pitt-led vehicle being set aside for the infamous Mayan date, Paramount Pictures has pushed the project back half a year. It will now be striking theaters on June 21, 2013, a mere week after Warner Bros. Pictures unleashes Zack Snyder's Man of Steel (June 14)...

Read more: http://www.mania.com/tmnt-world-war-z-shift-dates_article_132395.html